About me

I represent the youngest sector within the group, where our aim is to build a bridge between students and the labour market. The first steps in a career are crucial, so in my work I try to help make these experiences a real asset. Last year I also worked as a teaching assistant at the university, which gave me the opportunity to get to know students' motivations and challenges even better. It also opened up a new perspective for me. I am often confronted with the fact that the first impressions that young people have in the workplace have a big impact on the development of their professional path. These initial experiences shape not only their current decisions but also their future career prospects.
